About Eureka International Innovation and Entrepreneurship Competition

The 8th Eureka International Innovation and Entrepreneurship Competition 2025 (Eureka IIEC 2025) is co-hosted by Eureka Technology Innovation & Investment (Eureka TechIN) and the Zagreb School of Economics and Management (ZSEM), with strong backing from Eureka International Group. This global event brings together a new generation of entrepreneurs, scientists, and innovators to foster collaboration, accelerate innovation, and spark meaningful exchange across borders.

Held in Zagreb, the capital of Croatia, the competition is supported by local leading academic institutions, public organizations, and global partners. More than just a showcase for big ideas, it's a platform for turning vision into impact where ambitious minds connect, real-world solutions take shape, and international opportunities emerge.

By empowering forward-thinking individuals and championing innovation-driven growth, the competition also plays a vital role in advancing Croatia's innovation ecosystem and strengthening its position in the global tech arena.

Focused Areas

This year's competition focuses on five key innovation-driven fields that are shaping the future of our economies and societies. Participants are encouraged to propose solutions that are impactful, scalable, and aligned with global trends.

- 1. Artificial Intelligence and Its Applications
- 2. New Energy
- 3. Advanced Materials
- 4. Biomedical Technology
- 5. Agri-Tech and Food
